1. Should the AD/CD be finally responsible for dissemination under the over-all direction of the DCI?

2. Does the protection of intelligence sources and methods require that raw information and finished intelligence be treated in separate regulations?

3. Should offices producing raw information have veto over O/CD dissemination of this material outside DCI? (i.e., should concurrence of producing offices be required?)

4. Is approval at a level higher than AD/CD required for non-DCI dissemination?

5. What exceptions should be made to AD/CD control of dissemination and how should they be specified? Where should ultimate responsibility lie in these cases?
